

Nazi Enemies Raid Harvard

Agitators Stage Scene
Against Hitler Aid's
Visit.

Cambridge, Mass., June 21 (AP).— Anti-Nazi agitators shattered the calm of Harvard University Alumni exercises late today in an attempted demonstration against Dr. Ernst Hanfstaengl, Hitler aid, here to attend his twenty-fifth reunion. Ten were arrested, two were women who had handcuffed themselves to the rail in front of their seats in Sever Quadrangle in the Harvard yard while screaming imprecations against the German envoy.

The demonstration was somewhat futile, for Dr. Hanfstaengl spent the day at Singing Beach, Manchester, avoiding the heat and the demonstrators by a dip in the ocean.

E. K. Rand, treasurer of the class of 1909, was just about to hand President James B. Conant a class gift of $100,000 during the alumni exercises when the two women launched an anti-Nazi demonstration.

Police had to tear down part of the bleacher seats before the women could be removed. The women gave their names as Sheila Shugru, 20, and Norma Burke, 20.
