Mum feared to be taking kids to Syria

Koussa, who has been implicated in the Lockerbie bombing and the supplying of arms to the IRA, arrived in England last Wednesday. He is being questioned by the security services, MI5 and Ministry of Defence interrogation teams at a safe house near Guildford, Surrey.

A source said: "It has been an extremely benign form of interrogation so far. His chief concern has been the safety of his family. He was allowed to phone them but lines were down."

Last night it was not clear if he knew his wife had been seized by Gaddafi's forces in Tripoli.
