

Friday, March 29, 2013

Follow f r t

DAVID ROTHKOPF

CEO / Editor-at-Large

David Rothkopf is the CEO and Editor-at-Large of Foreign Policy. His new book, Power, Inc.: The Epic Rivalry Between Big Business and Government and the Reckoning that Lies Ahead, was published by Farrar, Straus & Giroux on March 1. He is also the author of Superclass: The Global Power Elite and the World They are Making, now available in over two dozen editions worldwide, and Running the World: The Inside Story of the National Security Council and the Architects of American Power, hailed by the New York Times as "the definitive history of the National Security Council."

Rothkopf is President and CEO of Garten Rothkopf, an international advisory firm specializing in transformational trends especially those associated with energy choice and climate change, emerging markets and global risk. He is a visiting scholar at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace where he chairs the Carnegie Economic Strategy Roundtable. He was formerly chief executive of Intellibridge Corporation, managing director of Kissinger Associates and U.S. Deputy Under Secretary of Commerce for International Trade Policy.

Rothkopf has also taught international affairs and national security studies at Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs and Georgetown's School of Foreign Service, has lectured widely and is the author of over 150 articles for leading publications worldwide.

CONTACT DAVID

✉ david.rothkopf

☎ (202) 728-7300

🐦 @djrothkopf

MEDIA HIGHLIGHTS

MSNBC's Morning Joe, "The Power Struggle Between Countries and Corporations"

NPR, "Foreign Policy: 5 Ideas for Save Obama's Presidency"

Aspen Ideas Festival, "Arab Spring: 18 Months Later, What's Ahead for Democracy"

PUBLISHED WORKS

LATEST ARTICLES LATEST BLOG POSTS ARTICLES BY DATE

ARGUMENT

March Madness

The top sports cinderella stories vs. the best from world history.

DAVID ROTHKOPF

The Deliverable-in-Chief

Is Obama's light-footprint diplomacy inviting tomorrow's problems?

DAVID ROTHKOPF

Lessons Learned (and Not)

Seven things we've learned after a decade of war in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Friday, March 29, 2013

Follow

Meet the Staff

David Rothkopf CEO

Susan Glasser Editor in Chief

Blake Hounshell Managing Editor

Peter Scoblic Executive Editor

Benjamin Pauker Senior Editor (202) 728-7324

Uri Friedman Deputy Managing Editor (202) 728-7326

Isaac Stone Fish Associate Editor (202) 728-7336

Joshua Keating Associate Editor (202) 728-7328

David Kenner Associate Editor

Ty McCormick Assistant Editor (202) 728-7300

Preeti Aroon Copy Chief (202) 728-7329

Margaret Slattery Assistant Managing Editor (202) 728-7314

Elias Groll Editorial Assistant (202) 728-7337

Josh Rogin Staff Writer (202) 728-7338

John Reed author of Killer Apps

Kevin Baron author of the E-Ring

Gordon Lubold author of Situation Report

Dennis Brack Creative Director (202) 728-7333

Erin Chrisinger Aulov Deputy Art Director

Tim Showers Web Director

Priya Nannapaneni Web Developer

Josh Mobley Web Developer

Edward Diller Publisher and Senior Vice President, Sales

Christopher Cotnoir Senior Vice President, Circulation, Digital Strategy and Operations

Deborah Cunningham Senior Vice President, Strategy and Marketing

Amer Yaqub Managing Director, Nation Branding (202) 728-7310

Jess Dillman Vice President, Communications

Aaron Finley Associate Publisher

Elisa Cool Vice President of Sales

Maria San Jose Senior Account Manager

Matthew Curry Marketing & Circulation Manager (202) 728-7351

Nick Mikhalevsky Director of Content Sales

Sanjay Suri Senior Advisor, Finance

Allen Chin Vice President, Chief Financial Officer

FP ON FACEBOOK

Most Popular on FP

1. China's Glass Ceiling
2. Think Again: North Korea
3. Combat Camera - An FP Slide Show
4. Battle of the maps: North Korea's actual missile capability vs. North Korea's threatened missile cap
5. Can the Marines Survive?
6. Fringe Following
7. Rubles in the Sun
8. Who's the Most Powerful Woman in the World?

TODAY'S FP COVER

FLASH POINTS

PASSPORT
Comparing North Korea's actual and threatened missile capability

BY JOHN HUDSON

PASSPORT
For a lesson on marriage equality, look to Mexico (which looked to the U.S.)

BY MARYA HANNUN

David Rothkopf is the CEO and Editor-at-Large of Foreign Policy. His new book, Power, Inc.: The Epic Rivalry Between Big Business and Government and the Reckoning that Lies Ahead, was published by Farrar, Straus & Giroux on March 1. He is also the author of Superclass: The Global Power Elite and the World They are Making, now available in over two dozen editions worldwide, and Running the World: The Inside Story of the National Security Council and the Architects of American Power, hailed by the New York Times as "the definitive history of the National Security Council."

Rothkopf is President and CEO of Garten Rothkopf, an international advisory firm specializing in transformational trends especially those associated with energy choice and climate change, emerging markets and global risk. He is a visiting scholar at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace where he chairs the Carnegie Economic Strategy Roundtable. He was formerly chief executive of IntellibrIDGE Corporation, managing director of Kissinger Associates and U.S. Deputy Under Secretary of Commerce for International Trade Policy.

Rothkopf has also taught international affairs and national security studies at Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs and Georgetown's School of Foreign Service, has lectured widely and is the author of over 150 articles for leading publications worldwide. Read David's full bio here.

Susan Glasser is editor in chief of Foreign Policy, the magazine of global politics, economics, and ideas. A longtime foreign correspondent and editor for the Washington Post, Glasser joined Foreign Policy in 2008 and has been spearheading the magazine's ambitious expansion in print and online at ForeignPolicy.com. During her tenure, the magazine has won numerous awards for its innovative coverage, including three digital National Magazine Awards, and was recently honored for online general excellence by the Overseas Press Club.

Glasser spent four years as co-chief of the Post's Moscow bureau and covered the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq for the Post in the immediate aftermath of 9/11 before returning to Washington, where she edited the Post's weekly Outlook section and led its national news coverage. Together with her husband, New York Times White House correspondent Peter Baker, she wrote Kremlin Rising: Vladimir Putin's Russia and the End of Revolution. Glasser previously worked for eight years at the Capitol Hill newspaper Roll Call, where she rose to be the top editor. A graduate of Harvard University, Glasser lives in Washington with Baker and their son. Read Susan's full bio here.

Blake Hounshell is managing editor at Foreign Policy, having formerly been Web editor. Hounshell oversees ForeignPolicy.com, FP's award-winning Web site, and commissions articles for the print magazine. He joined Foreign Policy in 2006 after living in Cairo, where he studied Arabic, missed his Steelers finally win one for the thumb, and worked for the Ibn Khaldun Center for Development Studies. A graduate of Yale University with a bachelor's degree in political science, he has appeared on CNN, NPR, C-Span, WTOP, WNYC, and Al-Jazeera, among others. He speaks mangled Arabic and French. Read Blake's full bio here.

Peter Scoblic is the executive editor at Foreign Policy.

Previously, he was the deputy staff director of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, where he worked on approval of the New START Treaty and served as the chief foreign policy speechwriter for Chairman John Kerry.

Before going to Capitol Hill, Scoblic was the executive editor of The New Republic. In 2008, he published U.S. vs. Them, an intellectual history of conservatism and its effect on nuclear strategy, which he wrote while he was a visiting scholar at the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. Prior to joining TNR, Scoblic spent four years as the editor of Arms Control Today, a journal covering efforts to prevent the spread and use of weapons of mass destruction.

MORE

PHOTO ESSAYS

▶ See All Photo Essays

The Year's Best War Photos

Burmese Political Cartoonist Harn Lay's Angry Sketches

CURRENT ISSUE

March/April 2013

- Exclusive
How the White House Let Diplomacy Fail in Afghanistan
- Special Report
How Not to Win a War
- Think Again
The Pentagon

▶ See Entire Issue
▶ Preview Digital Edition

Slate HIGHLIGHTS

Asking Kate Upton to Your Prom in a YouTube Video Isn't Cute. It's Creepy.

How Well Do You Remember the Week's News? Take Our Quiz to Find Out.

The Place Beyond the Pines: A Bold Follow-Up to Blue Valentine That Gets a Bit Messy

A graduate of Brown University, he lives in Washington with his wife, writer Sacha Z. Scoblic; their son, Theodore; and their terrier, SciFi. Read Peter's full bio here.

Ben Pauker is senior editor at Foreign Policy. Ben came to FP in May 2010 from World Policy Journal, where he was managing editor from 2007-2010. A native of New York, he grew up in Brazil, Australia, and Thailand and has written for Harper's, the Economist, and the Chicago Tribune, among other publications. He is the co-founder of the Gastronauts, the world's largest adventurous-eating club, and, in the course of reporting but mainly to see if it was possible, has smuggled small arms out of Central Africa. Read Ben's full bio here.

Uri Friedman is deputy managing editor at Foreign Policy. Before joining FP, he reported for the Christian Science Monitor, worked on corporate strategy for Atlantic Media, helped launch the Atlantic Wire, and covered international affairs for the site. A proud native of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, he studied European history at the University of Pennsylvania and has lived in Barcelona, Spain and Geneva, Switzerland. Read Uri's full bio here.

Isaac Stone Fish is associate editor at Foreign Policy. Previously a Beijing correspondent for Newsweek, he wrote stories on such subjects as the Dalai Lama's effect on international trade, China's love affair with rogue states, and crystal meth in North Korea. His articles have also appeared in the International Herald Tribune, the Economist, and the Los Angeles Times. Read Isaac's full bio here.

Joshua Keating is associate editor at Foreign Policy and the editor of the Passport blog. He has worked as a researcher, editorial assistant, and deputy Web editor since joining the FP staff in 2007. In addition to being featured in Foreign Policy, his writing has been published by the Washington Post, Newsweek International, Radio Prague, the Center for Defense Information, and Romania's Adevarul newspaper. He has appeared as a commentator on CNN International, C-Span, ABC News, Al Jazeera, NPR, BBC radio, and others. A native of Brooklyn, New York, he studied comparative politics at Oberlin College. Read Joshua's full bio here.

Preeti Aroon, copy chief at Foreign Policy, copy-edits print and web articles to ensure they are grammatically correct, free of typos, and consistent with FP's house style. Formerly a copy editor and contributing columnist for the Lexington Herald-Leader, Aroon holds a master's degree in public policy from Duke University and bachelor's degrees in chemical engineering and Spanish from the University of Kentucky. Read Preeti's full bio here.

Margaret Slattery is assistant managing editor at Foreign Policy, working primarily on FP's print magazine. A Los Angeles native and recent graduate of Yale University, where she majored in English, she has written for The New Republic and has studied in Leon, Spain. Read Margaret's full bio here.

David Kenner is an associate editor at Foreign Policy. A native of Boston, Massachusetts, he received his undergraduate degree from Georgetown University, also spending time studying in Turkey. He lived in Lebanon from 2006 to 2008, where he was a regular at various cafes and, in his spare time, reported on Middle East politics and pursued a master's degree from the American University of Beirut. He has written for The New Republic, The Weekly Standard, and Slate, among others. Read David's full bio here.

Elias Groll is an editorial assistant at Foreign Policy. A native of Stockholm, Sweden, he received his undergraduate degree from Harvard University, where he was the managing editor of The Harvard Crimson and wrote his honors thesis on the contemporary radical right in Europe. He has previously written for Politico and The Orange County Register. He speaks Swedish and Spanish. Read Elias's full bio here.

DAVID ROTHKOPF

Does John Kerry Matter?

Why Obama's new secretary of state might not have much room to run.

DAVID ROTHKOPF

The Cool War

Cold War technology made war unthinkable. Cool War technology makes it irresistible.

DAVID ROTHKOPF

If Obama Were a Truth-Teller

Here's what he would say on Tuesday night.

DAVID ROTHKOPF

Size Matters

The miniaturization of U.S. foreign policy.

DAVID ROTHKOPF

The Next Appointments

Obama is about to name a new international economic team. Will he use this opportunity wisely?

DAVID ROTHKOPF

The Bidenization of America

The veep is no joke -- and he's making a serious play for 2016.

DAVID ROTHKOPF

The Disengagers

Kerry, Hagel, and the end of American military adventurism?

FOLLOW US ON TWITTER | VISIT US ON FACEBOOK | FOLLOW US ON RSS | SUBSCRIBE TO FOREIGN POLICY

ABOUT FP | MEET THE STAFF | FOREIGN EDITIONS | REPRINT PERMISSIONS | ADVERTISING | WRITERS' GUIDELINES | PRESS ROOM | WORK AT FP

SERVICES: SUBSCRIPTION SERVICES | ACADEMIC PROGRAM | FP ARCHIVE | REPRINT PERMISSIONS | FP REPORTS AND MERCHANDISE | SPECIAL REPORTS | BUY BACK ISSUES

PRIVACY POLICY | DISCLAIMER | CONTACT US

11 DUPONT CIRCLE NW, SUITE 600 | WASHINGTON, DC 20036 | PHONE: 202-728-7300 | FAX: 202-728-7342

FOREIGN POLICY IS PUBLISHED BY THE FP GROUP, A DIVISION OF THE WASHINGTON POST COMPANY

ALL CONTENTS ©2013 THE FOREIGN POLICY GROUP, LLC. ALL RIGHTS RESERVED.