BANK IN LONDON FOR STANDARD OIL: Reported Purchase Will Be Made by James Stillman of National City.

Capt. Frederick M. Passmore, commander of the steamer St. Paul of the American line, was arrested for embezzlement.

The case was brought to light following a report by the American Consul in London that an aggregate amount of $50,000 was missing from the express office in New York.

The alleged embezzlement took place while the steamer was in London, and it is believed that the missing amount was transferred to a bank in London. However, no further information is available on the matter.

The case is currently under investigation, and the details will be released as soon as possible.
