5,000 Young Men and Leaders Attend Annual Ceremony in St. Patrick's Cathedral

The Archdiocese of New York had gathered in St. Patrick's Cathedral yesterday for its annual Boy Scouts of America ceremony in which the Church blesses the colors of the Boy Scout movement. The Archdiocese includes New York City and the five counties of Long Island, where there are more than 5,000 Boy Scouts. The ceremony, which is attended by the Archbishops of New York and other high officials of the Church, is a symbol of theclose relationship between the Catholic Church and the Boy Scouts of America.

The ceremony was attended by thousands of Boy Scouts from throughout the Archdiocese. The Archbishops blessed the colors of the Boy Scout movement, which are red, white, and blue. The Archbishops also blessed the Boy Scout Creed and the Boy Scout Promise.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Archbishops presented the colors to the Boy Scouts of America. The colors are used by the Boy Scouts in their daily activities and in their parades and ceremonies.

The ceremony is an opportunity for the Archbishops to show their support for the Boy Scouts of America and to encourage the young men and leaders of the movement to continue to be active in their faith and in their community.
